

Abstract of the Disclosure

A flat core brushless motor including a stator having a stator base with protruding poles, and a respective wound armature coil wrapped around each of the protruding poles, wherein the stator base includes at least one concave portion receiving the armature coils.

09587340